Community Care

Who are we?

Fourways Residential Home has been providing a high standard of personal care and support in Sidmouth for over twenty years.

Fourways is now using this successful platform as the foundation to provide a high quality community care service throughout the Sid Valley.

How we help?

The needs of the individuals we meet require such a personalised system of support the degree of help we offer must also reflect this diversity. From assistance with housework, shopping and personal care, from half an hour a week to sleep in night duties, we can help.

"The most difficult thing is often admitting that we need that bit of help. The problem is not really the 'rainy day' it's recognising its arrival."

Who will visit?

We have carefully chosen our people to meet the quality of service we feel is required.

We have stringent guidelines to ensure that all staff, including managers, are properly vetted.

Our staff should be smartly presented, professional and friendly, anything less is unacceptable.

Training is completed through a recognised standard and we often train staff to meet individual requirements, especially if specialised equipment is used to complete the duties.
